

THE WITNESS HOUSE: NAZIS AND HOLOCAUST SURVIVORS SHARING A VILLA DURING THE NUREMBERG TRIALS

Autumn 1945 saw the start of the Nuremberg trials, in which high ranking representatives of the Nazi government were called to account for their war crimes. In a curious yet fascinating twist, witnesses for the prosecution and the defense were housed together in a villa on the outskirts of town. In this so-called Witness House, perpetrators and victims confronted each other in a microcosm that reflected the events of the high court. Presiding...

Reader's Opinions

Fascinating study of a house used during the Nuremberg War Crimes Trials in 1945-47 in which both perpetrators, victims, and other witnesses and participants in the trials were housed. Frequently refers to Richard Sonnenfeldt, the soldier-translator whose book is on my upcoming list of to-read.

incredible true story of prosecution and defense witnesses staying at the same house during the Nuremberg trials. Not written exceptionally well, but its such a fascinating story that it still...
